

JARVIS Content Code Brief

Creator: christine
Generated: Sun, 21 Jun 2026 08:46:55 GMT
Version: 9.0

80 / 100

Strong

VIRAL SCORE: 1/10 — LOW

Title Curiosity (Jenny): 1/2
Hook Curiosity (Jenny): 0/2
Stakes Present (MrBeast): 0/2
Viewer Investment (MrBeast): 0/2
Time Bombs (Jenny): 0/1
Investment Moments (MrBeast): 0/1

Biggest gap: Nothing is at stake for anyone in this video. It is a list with no tension, no personal story, no risk, and no unresolved question pulling anyone forward.

THE VERDICT

This is a Wikipedia article read aloud — informative but invisible to the algorithm because nobody needs to know what happens next.

YOUR CREATOR VOICE

Christine clearly loves plants and knows her stuff — she moves through 10 plants with real confidence and specific botanical details most creators skip. There is a warmth in how she talks about these plants like they are friends she wants you to meet. That care is real and it is her biggest unused asset.

WHAT YOUR AUDIENCE FEELS

Right now the audience feels like they are reading a brochure. They are learning but not feeling anything. The bigger feeling available here is hope — someone who desperately wants change in their home, their money, their relationships, or their energy, and genuinely wonders if a plant could actually shift something. That feeling of wanting to believe is deeply human and completely untapped.

YOUR MOST INTERESTING MOMENT

"Place it in your bedroom for a good night's sleep and a fresh start to your day"

This is the only moment in the entire video where a plant connects to a real human experience — sleep, rest, waking up feeling different. This is a transformation promise hiding inside a list. If the whole video was built around this kind of personal change, it would be a completely different piece of content. This line is the seed of a viral hook.

YOUR SUPERPOWER

Christine uses real botanical names throughout — Pachira Aquatica, Sansevieria Trifasciata, Pilea Peperomioides — without losing the viewer. That specificity makes her feel trustworthy and credible in a space full of vague lifestyle content. Most creators dumb it down. She does not. That is rare and that is her edge.

THE CURIOSITY CODE — JENNY HOYOS FRAMEWORK

TITLE

CURRENT: '10 Indoor Plants That Bring Good Luck & Positive Energy to Your Home' PROBLEM: This title answers itself completely. There is no open question, no tension, no personal stakes, and no unexpected outcome. The viewer already knows exactly what they will get and feels nothing. It follows zero parts of the Jenny formula. FIXED: 'I put 10 lucky plants in my home for 30 days — day 21 changed something I did not expect'

HOOK

CURRENT: 'welcome to my channel are you looking to bring some positive energy good luck and prosperity into your living space' PROBLEM: This opens with a greeting, a question the viewer already said yes to by clicking, and zero tension. It is the slowest possible start. The algorithm measures the first 3 seconds and this loses everyone who wanted to feel something. FIXED: 'I put every single one of these plants in my home. I was skeptical. Then something actually shifted — and it started with the one plant I almost skipped.'

RETENTION

MISSING: There are zero time bombs in this video. Every plant is introduced, described, and closed. There is no open loop pulling the viewer toward the next minute. The viewer has no reason to stay because every question gets answered immediately and no new question replaces it. ADD THIS: At the 60-second mark, after introducing jade and lucky bamboo, say exactly this — 'Now most people stop at two or three of these. But there is one plant on this list that Feng Shui experts say should never go in certain rooms — I will tell you which one before we finish.'

PAYOFF

CURRENT: 'have any of these plants brought you luck let us know in the comments below don't forget to like share and subscribe for more plant tips and inspiration thanks for watching and happy planting' PROBLEM: This is a resolution — it wraps everything up neatly and sends the viewer away with nothing to think about or share. Resolutions are forgettable. Revelations get screenshots. FIX: End with this exact line — 'I started this thinking lucky plants were just a decoration choice. I was wrong. The plant I almost did not buy is sitting in my bedroom right now — and I sleep differently than I did before. Maybe that is the plant. Maybe I just believe it is. Honestly? I am not sure the difference matters.'

THE STAKES CODE — MRBEAST FRAMEWORK

WHAT IS AT STAKE

Nothing is at stake for Christine and nothing is at stake for the viewer. This is a neutral information transfer. MrBeast's core rule is that nobody cares about content — they care about what is at risk. Right now zero things are at risk for anyone watching this video.

DOES THE VIEWER CARE

The viewer does not have a reason to care about the outcome because there is no outcome. A list of 10 plants does not have an outcome. The viewer watching this is probably already a plant person who will nod along and leave. The person who NEEDS this content — someone going through a hard time who genuinely wants to believe their home can feel different — has no reason to stay because nothing in the video speaks directly to their hope or their fear.

HOW TO RAISE THE STAKES

Make Christine the test subject. She buys all 10 plants. She places them exactly where the traditions say. She gives it 30 days. NOW the viewer has stakes — will this actually work? Say this early: 'I spent the last 30 days living with every plant on this list placed exactly where tradition says they should go. Some of what happened surprised me. One thing genuinely did not.'

INVESTMENT MOMENTS

At the 2-minute mark after covering the money tree, say this: 'This next one — I was embarrassed to admit how much I wanted it to work. Because when I put it in my home I was going through something and I needed to believe the space could change.' Then continue the list. The viewer is now invested in Christine as a human being, not just a plant guide.

OVER DELIVER

The video promises good luck and positive energy. It delivers a list of plants. To over-deliver, end with one completely honest personal moment — something real that happened or something Christine genuinely believes. The emotional over-delivery is not more plants. It is vulnerability. Promise: these plants bring positive energy. Over-deliver: 'I do not know if plants change luck. But I know that taking care of something living every single day changed how I felt about my home — and maybe that IS the energy shift.'

TITLE FORMULA — THE CONTENT CODE

Jenny Formula:

Jenny formula — I put 10 lucky plants in every room of my home — here is what actually happened on day 30

MrBeast Formula:

MrBeast formula — I bet my entire home's energy on 10 lucky plants for 30 days

Combined Formula:

Combined formula — I bet my home's energy on these 10 lucky plants — day 21 changed the one room I expected least

HOOK SCRIPT — RECORD THIS NOW

I put all 10 of these plants in my home. Placed every single one exactly where the traditions say. And I told myself I would be honest about what happened. Some of it I can explain. One thing I still cannot. Start with number one — because where you place this first plant matters more than the plant itself.

TIME BOMBS — DROP THESE IN

1. 60-second time bomb — after jade plant and lucky bamboo: 'Now there is one plant on this list that most people put in the wrong room entirely — and when you do that, tradition says it works against you. I will tell you exactly which one before we get to number seven.'
 2. 2-minute time bomb — after peace lily and money tree: 'The next plant is the one I was most skeptical about. I almost left it off the list. Then I put it in my bedroom and something actually shifted. I will tell you what happened when we get there.'
-

THE LINE THEY WILL SCREENSHOT

"I do not know if plants change luck. But I know that taking care of something living every single day changed how I felt about my home — and maybe that IS the positive energy."

THE VIRAL BET

EXPERIMENT: Film a 30-day lucky plant experiment in Christine's actual home. Place all 10 plants exactly where tradition says. Check in every 7 days. Be honest about what feels different and what does not. TITLE TO USE: 'I bet my home's energy on 10 lucky plants for 30 days — here is what I was not expecting on day 21'

STOP DOING THIS

CURRENT: 'welcome to my channel are you looking to bring some positive energy good luck and prosperity into your living space in this video we ll introduce you to 10 beautiful indoor plants' BETTER: Drop into the peak moment first. No welcome. No channel mention. No question they already answered by clicking. Open with the most interesting thing that happened or could happen — then build the list around that.

HOW YOU WIN

In 30 days Christine has one video where she is the subject, not just the guide — and for the first time the comments are full of people asking what happened to her, not just what plant to buy.

A NOTE FROM JARVIS

You know these plants deeply and that knowledge is real. The only thing missing is you — Christine in the story, Christine with something at stake, Christine being honest about what she hopes and what she believes. The plants are the vehicle. You are the reason someone watches to the end. Go make the video where you are in it.